

LINGUISTICS 825: Phonological Theory II

Fall 2010

Office: A636 Wells Hall
E-mail: durvasul@msu.edu

Class Schedule / Location:

Wednesday 3:00 – 5:50pm Wells Hall C211

COURSE GOALS:

The goal of the course is to enable students to critically evaluate phonological theories, especially in the framework of OT. This will (hopefully) be achieved through a selective (hence, incomplete) journey through the various developments of OT Architecture. The two central topics that will be pursued towards this goal are OPACITY and PHONOLOGICAL VARIATION. Both these kernels of knowledge have served as launch pads for a variety of interesting/innovative tweaks to the Classic OT Architecture.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

· Attendance

Students are expected to attend all classes; however, no attendance will be taken. It is important to attend all classes since materials that are not covered in the textbook maybe be presented. Please be sure to get the notes from any class you may miss. Some materials maybe be sent via email, but you should also check with me or a classmate regarding material you may have missed.

· Reading

Students are expected to do all the assigned readings BEFORE the paper is presented in class.

· Homework

The homework consists of

- a. For Opacity: analysing the data in Idsardi (2000) according to the modified OT Theories - to be submitted on the day the paper is presented.
- b. For Phonological Variation: TBA

On days that you have to present a paper, you don't have to submit the homework; but, if you really love the topic and you reeeeeeealy wanna write-up the homework, too, then go ahead and turn it in!

· Exams

There a FINAL PAPER due.

- Grading

Homeworks	35%
Paper Presentation	10%
Final Paper Presentation	15%
Final Paper	40%
	100%

COURSE SCHEDULE:

This schedule is subject to slight variation, so if you miss a class, be sure to check with me or a classmate. It is most helpful to do the readings for a given topic BEFORE the first class dealing with that topic. This will make the lectures easier to follow, and you will be in a better position to ask questions about things that might not be clear to you.

Homework will be emailed or handed out in class.
